CHIEF SITTING BULL.

Account of His Death Sent to Washington.

AGENT LAUGHLIN'S REPORT.

He Gives a Detailed Account of the Battle and Asks the Government to Make Some Recognition of the Bravery of the Indian Police.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Indian Agent George Laughlin, of the Standing Rock agency, under date of Dec. 16, has made a report to the Indian bureau, giving the details of the recent killing of Sitting Bull. He says the troops, with a guide, left Fort Yates at midnight of the 14th instant. The Indian police were given instructions to arrest Sitting Bull when the troops were sufficiently near to afford them protection in case of resistance to the arrest.

At daybreak on the 15th the police went to Sitting Bull's house and surrounded it. A detail was sent into the house, where Sitting Bull was sleeping on the floor, the remainder staying outside. They aroused him and announced their purpose, at the same time raising him to a sitting position. He at first seemed inclined to offer no resistance and they allowed him to dress, during which time he changed his mind, and they took him forcibly from the house.

By this time the police were surrounded by Sitting Bull's followers, members of the ghost dance. The first shot was fired by "Catch-the-Bear," one of the hostiles, and the lieutenant of police, Henry Tatankapah, (Bull Head), who was in command of a detachment of forty-two men, was struck. The fighting then became general; in fact it was hand to hand. Sitting Bull was killed, being shot through the body and head in the early part of the fight by Bull Head and Marcus Chankpudtah, (Red Tomahawk), who each shot at him. Four policemen were killed outright and three wounded, one of the latter dying at the agency hospital the next morning.

Bull Head, the lieutenant of police, was dangerously wounded but may recover. The hostile Indians lost eight killed and several wounded, and were driven from the field by the police. They fled up the river, leaving their wives and families and all their property and dead behind them. Two troops of the United States cavalry (one hundred men) arrived on the ground immediately after the fight which had occupied less than half an hour, taking possession of the camp, its inhabitants property and dead. The military did not pursue the fleeing hostiles. The latter, the agent says, will doubtless fall into the hands of some one of the commands moving at the different points west and south of the reservation.

The police returned to the agency the following day, accompanied by the cavalry detachment having charge of the remains of the four dead policemen, Sitting Bull and also two prisoners, Sitting Bull's nephew and "Middle," son of Little Asina-one.

The dead chief's remains are in possession of the military at Fort Yates.

The agent says the details of the battle show that the Indian police behaved nobly and exhibited the best judgment and bravery. "Recognition by the government or their services on this occasion is richly deserved and should be promptly given with a substantial allowance for the families of those who are dead, and also for the survivors to show them that the government recognizes the great service that has been done for the country."

He urges the government to be generous in the cases of the four Indian volunteers: viz: Grey Eagle, Spotted Thunder, Otter Robe and Young Eagle, who participated in the fight, rendering good service. Grey Eagle, (Gabriel Wanlihotah) is one of the judges of the court of Indian offenses, and his two sisters are Sitting Bull's wives and until about seventeen months ago he was Sitting Bull's main support.

Five of the Indian police were killed and two dangerously wounded, while eight Indians were killed outright and several others badly wounded. "A large majority of the Indians at the Standing Rock agency," the agent says, "are loyal to the government, and universal satisfaction is expressed by them, as it ends the ghost craze here. Couriers have been sent to overtake the fleeing Indians, advising them to return to the agency or suffer the consequences."

In conclusion Agent Laughlin says: "While this conflict causing the loss of some of our best (noble and brave) policemen is to be very much regretted, yet the great good accomplished by the ending of Sitting Bull's career, whose influence has been of such a retarding nature, and the determination the police manifested in maintaining the will of the government, is most gratifying."

Desperate Fight Among Miners.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 23.—A desperate fight took place at Pen's Creek, a mountain mining town ten miles east of this city Saturday night. Huns and Slavs were the parties engaged. Mining picks and pistols were used. The fight occurred in a Hungarian shanty. Three of the participants, including one woman, are reported fatally hurt.

Killed His Nephew.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 23.—A special from Decatur, Ala., says that John L. Brock, of that place, while hunting near Hillsboro in company with three young nephews accidentally shot and instantly killed one of the little fellows. The boy was about 12 years old.

Sent Up for Nineteen Years.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Charles Buchanan, alias "Charles Jackson," who killed Mamie Murphy in Chris Johnson's saloon on the night of April 22, was yesterday sentenced to nineteen years imprisonment in Sing Sing.

FIVE MEN FAALLY INJURED.

Disastrous Explosion in the New Jersey Steel and Iron Works.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 23.—About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon an explosion occurred at the New Jersey steel and iron works, fatally injuring five men. A large mass of molten metal, known as a "cinder," had been taken from one of the furnaces to undergo the process of cooling. This is done by dashing buckets of water upon it after it has been exposed to the air long enough to somewhat abate the white heat at which it emerges from the furnaces.

The man in charge of the furnace determines the proper time to apply the water, and the men in readiness with the buckets are required to follow his orders. Yesterday one of the helpers, Michael Fuda, without waiting for the signal threw his bucket of water on the "cinder" almost as soon as it was taken from the furnace. As the water struck the huge mass of incandescent metal exploded with a deafening report, hurling in all directions large pieces of iron, some of them weighing hundreds of pounds.

Fu-a and his companions, who were standing around the "cinder," were thrown to the ground covered with horrible wounds, their clothing and flesh burning and emitting a sickening odor. Fuda, who stood a few feet nearer to the cinder than the others, had his eyes burned completely out. In the back of his neck was burned a large hole, and several holes were burned in his body.

Jacob Kress had his clothing almost entirely burned off, and was terribly burned and mangled about the body and limbs. George Sintall had the flesh burned off many parts of his body, exposing the bones.

Michael Soperip had a horrible gash cut in his abdomen by a flying piece of the hot iron and his burns are so severe that the physicians have no hope of his recovery.

Michael Cossalus' burns were so numerous and serious as to render him almost beyond recognition.

The injured men were removed to the hospital. They are all in a critical condition and the chances of the recovery of any of them are small.

The rail mill, the scene of the explosion, presented a horrible sight. Great chunks of flesh dropped from the bones of the mangled and roasted men filling the air with a stifling odor, while the surrounding lore traces of the flying pieces of metal. The escape of the five men from instant death and of others in the mill from injury is miraculous.

Trying to Compromise.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 23.—The grievance committee of employees of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad which reached this city Saturday had an interview with General Manager Odell yesterday afternoon. The conference was held in private and what was said or done was not made public. Mr. Odell said he would not be at liberty to make any statement until after the committee of Baltimore and Ohio officials meets tomorrow and considers the plans of the grievance committee. Mr. Odell stated emphatically, however, that the trouble would be amicably settled and that there would be no strike.

Arrested for Forgery.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—George Schoonmaker and his wife, who were arrested at West Nyack, N. Y., for forging deeds and mortgages the brown stone house of Mrs. Helen Robertson for $5,000, were brought up in the courts yesterday. Mrs. Jennie Schoonmaker was arraigned before Judge Walsh and pleaded not guilty. She was released on $1,500 bail. George Schoonmaker was indicted by the grand jury and arraigned in the Kings county court of sessions. On his request he was granted until Wednesday to enter his plea.

Stowing a Steamer.

ELIZABETH, Pa., Dec. 23.—The hull of a steamer designed for South American waters, but here, is about to be shipped to New York, and over thirty cars will be required for that purpose. It is now being taken apart and loaded on the cars. It will ply on the river Magdalena. From New York it will be shipped to Barranquilla, near the mouth of the Magdalena. There it will be set up and launched.

Terrible State of Affairs.

MEXICO, Tex., Dec. 23.—Fairfield is in a state of intense excitement over the scouring of spotted fever, or perhaps meningitis. Nearly all the stores are closed and business is almost entirely suspended. The disease is so fatal and dreadful that the people are closing their dwellings and leaving. Eight or ten deaths have occurred within the last two days and a large number are now sick.

Claim That They Are Not Guilty.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—The nineteen Italians accused in the Hennessy case pleaded not guilty yesterday in the criminal court and filed a plea in bar on these grounds: First, that the grand jury could not have found the indictment in the short time in which it did; second, that the allotment of the case was improperly made. Judge Baker overruled both motions.

A Fortunate Escape.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 23.—A narrow escape from a serious wreck and attendant loss of life occurred on the Saratoga division of the Delaware and Hudson road between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday. As the Montreal sleeper passed Ballston it dashed into a freight standing on a switch, knocking several cars off the track and smashing two of the sleepers. Fortunately no one was injured.

Fell Nine Stories.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 23.—While an electric light lineman named Lempeke was at work upon the roof of the Hollendon hotel, he lost his footing and fell nine stories to the sidewalk. He struck upon the back of his head and was crushed almost beyond recognition.

THE RACE PROBLEM.

Opinions of a Number of Southern Congressmen.

THE FEDERAL ELECTION BILL.

What Effect It Will Have if Passed by the Present Session of Congress—Proceedings of the House and Senate. Various Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The Post today published the views of a number of southern congressmen, on a proposition which it says Senator Butler will bring forward in the senate before the debate on the elections bill closes, for a joint resolution depriving the negro of his right to vote, and at the same time reducing relatively the southern representation in congress. Senator Butler is reported saying that he will dare Republican senators to vote for such a measure, which he declares would receive his hearty support.

Senator Pugh declares emphatically that the south would not hesitate one moment to give up any representation based on the negro vote, if by so doing it could forever eliminate the negro as a political entity. This, the senator thinks, is the universal sentiment of the southern people and this, he thinks could be done by repealing the fifteenth amendment to the constitution and relegating the powers back to the states again as it was before the adoption of that amendment.

Senator Vance, of North Carolina, is not so favorable to the proposition. He says that the whites are numerically the strongest in the old north state; that the races are living peacefully together, and that the whites have nothing to gain by abridging the negroes' right of suffrage. As an abstract proposition he is opposed to it. The result would be to inject into our body politic a large class of citizens who can neither vote or be voted for. They would constitute an element of political as well as social perils. They would be inculcated upon our material prosperity. They would have nothing to appeal to their better instincts. They would lose their manhood. And as such a dangerous element in the community. The south, Senator Vance says, are gradually working out this race problem to a happy solution. A few years more and it will be solved completely. As the negro acquires property he becomes a better citizen. His interest is identical with the white men, and with the community of interest he is quite as desirous of good government as his white neighbor is.

Representative Stockdale, of Mississippi, says that he would be glad to see the negro question taken out from politics in the south, even if this resulted in his losing his seat in congress. Representative Catechings, of the same state, said that to eliminate the negro and accept the reduced representation would be a happy solution of a vexing problem. Public sentiment in Mississippi, so far as he was acquainted with it, was in favor of this solution. He pointed out, however, that the Republican idea was to retain for the negro the right to vote and yet reduce the southern representation, which, however, would be unfair to the south. He does not believe that the Republicans will ever adopt such a resolution as Senator Butler proposes, because it would result in the political ruin of their party.

Representative Oates, of Alabama, says two-thirds of the south are in favor of reduced representation in congress and the electoral college if, on the other hand, the negro population is taken out of the apportionment calculation. He denies the Republican claim of twenty to twenty-five districts from the south, but is willing to concede them some seven or eight. He acknowledges that the Democratic legislatures in Alabama and South Carolina gerrymandered the state so that all the black counties were thrown into one district in each state.

Representative Mills, of Texas, says that the question does not concern him personally, as there are only 70,000 negroes in his state. But he says that the Republican party will never consent to disfranchise the negro, even though the southern representation was decreased thereby. If the colored vote was eliminated New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and other states would be Democratic, for the simple reason that the Republican majority in those states is less than the colored vote. Michigan, Connecticut and Massachusetts would also be doubtful Republican states.

Will There Be a Recess?

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—It is probable that a concurrent resolution will be passed in the house providing for a recess in the house until the holidays end. The consent of the senate will be necessary before this resolution can become effective. The consent will probably be given but the senate will not adjourn. Should the resolution fail the house will take successive recesses for three days at a time during the holidays. A large number of members of the house have been informed that the resolution will be called up, and it is said there has been no objection made to it.

Christmas Gifts to Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The president yesterday, in the form of pardons, presented Christmas gifts to W. H. Gales, of South Carolina, and to John A. Smith, of West Virginia. Gales was convicted of violation of Section 3242 revised statutes and fined $100 and sentence suspended. Smith was sent to jail for one year for perjury, his sentence not expiring until Feb. 7, 1891.

Epidemic of Diphtheria.

RYE, Col., Dec. 23.—There is quite an epidemic of diphtheria here. Five deaths have been reported from this disease last week, and reports state that the disease is spreading rapidly.

NEARLY A MILLION DOLLARS.

The Bank Failure at Chicago More Disastrous Than Reported.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—S. A. Kean & Company's failure is likely to result in a measure that will benefit the community at large. Inasmuch as the failure of any bank, whether National, state or private, is apt to produce a feeling of general distrust, and especially in times of stringency of money, several of the prominent bankers of the city have taken the initiative in the direction of relief. These bankers met Saturday afternoon and called in Levy Mayer, the attorney for the creditors in the Kean case, to advise with them in regard to a law that will prevent occurrences like the Kean failure.

The effect of such a law will be two fold—it will prevent an unsuspecting public from being cheated out of its money, and it will prevent the failure of a rotten concern causing investments to be withdrawn from legitimate banking channels. Attorney Mayer has already prepared a rough draft of a bill which is to be submitted to a meeting of bankers after perfection to be sent to Springfield. It will be one of the first measures that comes before the next legislature. Parties who have been closely acquainted with Kean's methods of doing business side with Attorney Mayer in the opinion that the depositors will recover no more than twenty cents on the dollar. If that is the case the loss will be immense. Taking Kean's own statement of the liabilities aggregating $778,000 the net loss would foot up $162,400; but it is more likely that the first statement—which was made upon careful computation and on the basis of reliable information—will prove correct, namely that $300,000 have been sunk in the business of S. A. Kean & Company.

TOLEDO BROKER ARRESTED.

He Seizes Three Thousand Dollars from Three Different Banks.

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 23.—Ed. H. Spear, a prominent young broker, was arrested yesterday evening for defrauding the First National, Merchants' National and Ketcham National banks out of $1,000 each. Yesterday morning he deposited $250 in each bank, saying he wished to transfer his account from the Northern National. Just before the banks closed in the afternoon he drew three checks for $1,000 each on the Northern National and each of the other banks promptly cashed them. Spear had no money in the Northern, and the fraud was discovered at the clearing house. Spear refused to give any information as to the whereabouts of the money.

Late last night it was learned that immediately after cashing the checks Spear went to a savings bank and lifted a loan of his mother's. He has sacrificed his reputation for his mother's credit.

A CANAL BREAKS.

Hundreds of Houses Destroyed and a Hundred Lives Lost in South America.

BUENOS AYRES, Dec. 23.—A disaster has occurred at Cordova, where the canal has burst its embankments and destroyed hundreds of houses. One hundred lives are reported to be lost. Gen. Roca, the minister of the interior, has gone to the scene to superintend measures of relief.

Result of a Serious Row.

MOUNT VERNON, Ky., Dec. 23.—At Brush creek, nine miles east of this place, on Friday evening, five persons were wounded in a general row. Jack Baker received a ball in the left breast, ranging upward and lodging under the shoulder-blade; Andy Mason had his wrist shattered from a ball; a son of Mason got a furrow plowed across his head just over the left ear; John Angline received a similar wound, and Angline's wife was shot in the back. How the fight came up no one here has been able to learn. All the parties are related by marriage to each other.

A Minister Sent Up.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Dec. 23.—The Rev. James Campbell, a Methodist minister, was Saturday found guilty of committing a criminal operation upon Annie Huntsman, and was sentenced to a term of three years in the state prison. His child, a girl aged 6 years, died Sunday before he was sentenced to prison and the funeral was held Monday. The court ordered that Campbell should be permitted to attend the funeral, but the sheriff positively refused to obey the order. A motion will be made early for a new trial.

Burglars Run In.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 23.—During the past week a gang of burglars and safe blowers have been working in Youngstown. The officers arrested two strangers giving their names as Frank Liagnan and William Quintan with residences at Pittsburgh. Both carried revolvers, skeleton keys and had a quantity of gun powder. Two knives found on them were identified as having been stolen from a store here. The officers are confident they have the right parties.

Young Lady Frozen to Death.

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y., Dec. 23.—Last Wednesday afternoon, Amelia Labompard, 19 years old, started to walk from Wolf pond, Franklin county, where she had been visiting, to her home in Malone, a distance of fourteen miles. She did not arrive at Malone, and diligent search failed to discover her whereabouts until yesterday afternoon, when her body was found about three miles from where she started, she having been frozen to death.

Lectures and Concerts.

The Lyceum Bureau, of this city has completed arrangements for the course of six entertainments, and the season tickets are now being sold. The very low price of these season tickets should insure a large patronage and we trust our people will buy tickets from the ladies of the various churches when they call on them. All the profits arising from the course are to be divided among the churches. The first lecture will be by Hon. Samuel Phelps Leland and will be given at the opera house on Tuesday evening, Dec. 30th. His subject will be "The Land of Burns and Scott." One of our exchanges speaking of this lecture and of Mr. Leland says: "It is a description of Scotland—its hills of heather, and fields of bluebells and daisies—of its cities, industries, literature, history, and its 'honest men and bonnie lassies.'" The lecture is a record of a summer's vacation in that land of history, romance and song. Mr. Leland is a large man, of pleasing address, and makes a handsome and dignified appearance on the stage. The lecture was a pronounced success, and entitled the speaker to the gratitude and admiration of our people. Mr. Leland is one of the foremost lecturers of the day."

The second entertainment will be a concert by the Harvard Quartette, supported by Miss Ida May Florence, the great natural recitor, and Miss Gertrude Lufkin, the accomplished pianist and cornetist, on Monday evening, Jan. 12th. The third will be given by Mr. Frederick D. Losey, the dramatic reader and impersonator, on Monday evening, January 26th. The fourth will be a lecture by the Hon. George R. Wendling (subject "Stonewall Jackson") on Tuesday evening, February 10th. The fifth will be a lecture by Dr. James Hedley on "The Sunny Side of Life," about the latter part of February. The sixth and last will be a "grand musical" by the celebrated Schubert Male Quartette, assisted by Miss Baldwin, the great soprano, and Miss Lay, the charming pianist. This will be given the latter part of March.

It will be seen that the Bureau has engaged nothing but first-class talent. We trust that all our citizens will second the efforts of the Bureau and that the course will receive that liberal patronage it so well deserves. Purchasers of season tickets can have seats reserved without extra charge by presenting their tickets at Harry Taylor's book store a few days before each entertainment and securing a reserved seat coupon.

A Noteworthy Exception.

From the Kimball (S. D.) Graphic: "While the columns of the Graphic are open to any and all unobjectionable advertisements, yet it is quite impossible for us to speak knowingly of the merits of various articles of merchandise advertised. Particularly is this true of patent medicines. But there are exceptions occasionally and a noteworthy exception is the celebrated Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This now universally known medicine has been advertised in the Graphic for four or five years but not until recently had we any personal knowledge of its wonderful efficacy which has come about through the prevailing influenza and the stubborn cough that has so often attended it. In the writer's family this medicine has on several occasions this winter cured a cough that baffled any and all other medicines; and the number of families in Kimball and vicinity, in which this remedy has been used with like effects, attests to its value as a specific for coughs and colds of every nature." ALONG THE OHIO SHORE.

Probability that the C. and O. Will Be Paralleled at a Very Early Day.

It has long been predicted that some day there will be rival railway lines along the north and south banks of the Ohio river.

The magnificent C. and O. system is now in successful operation along the south shore, and there have been several surveys for a line along the north shore, but aside from the surveys nothing much has ever been done to complete the link between Portsmouth and Cincinnati. It is claimed that a road can be built along the north bank at a much less expense than it cost to complete the Cincinnati division of the C. and O., and it runs through just as rich a territory.

The indications now point to a fulfillment, at no distant day, of the prediction mentioned at the commencement of this article. The Portsmouth Press says: "Another railroad scheme has been in process of incubation for some time, and the news of it came from one high in railroad authority.

"The Norfolk and Western is now building into Ironton. As the Scioto Valley division is under this system it affords an outlet to the north. The most practicable western route is now being considered. It was at first deemed advisable to absorb the O. and N. W. Railway (from Portsmouth to Cincinnati). But one of the leading magnates says that this idea has been dropped, as the territory through which it passes in no way compares to that of a route contiguous to the Ohio river.

"The cost of buying and putting the O. and N. W. Railway into proper shape, equipping it with the necessary rolling stock, and the difference in the earnings of the two roads, will build a line down the Ohio Valley, through the rich freestone and limestone fields.

"In all probability," said the official, "you will see the Norfolk and Western extended to Cincinnati, via the river route, before a great while, with switches to the Carey's Run and Buena Vista stone quarries."

The Norfolk and Western is now being extended from Roanoke, Va., to Ceredo, W. Va., where the Ohio river is to be bridged, and the line from that point down to Portsmouth is about finished. The N. and W. recently acquired the Scioto Valley, which gives it a direct line to Columbus, O., and the North, and it has lately purchased the Shenandoah Valley Road, which gives it a direct line to Washington City. If it should now complete the link between Portsmouth and Cincinnati, along the north bank of the river, it would prove a formidable rival to the C. and O. system.

JAMES WILMOTH WANTED

For the Murder of a Young Man in Adams County—His Victim Shot in Cold Blood.

A dastardly murder was committed in Adams County, O., last Saturday afternoon by James Wilmoth. The killing was done at a turkey shooting match held about three miles north of Concord, Lewis County.

Wilmoth was drunk and was flourishing his pistol about, when a young man named Grooms remonstrated and requested him to put up, saying "it might go off and hurt someone."

This seemed to enrage the drunken man, and thrusting the pistol against Grooms' stomach, he said "Well, I'll just shoot you," pulling the trigger at the same instant. Grooms fell mortally wounded. His father-in-law, J. Hempleman, lives near by, and Wilmoth ordered the bystanders to carry the body to the Hempleman house. He then rode to West Union for a doctor, returned and finding that the wound was a fatal one skipped out. Grooms lingered until Sunday morning.

Wilmoth escaped to Lewis County, and Constable Stevenson, of Concord, telegraphed to Captain Heflin last night, offering him $20 to go to Tollesboro and make the arrest. The accused is said to be stopping at the home of Jim Francis, two miles back of Tollesboro. He is much nearer Concord than Maysville, and Mr. Stevenson's action in the matter needs a little explanation. Captain Heflin didn't go to Tollesboro, and as far as known, the murderer is still at large.

"THE POOR INDIAN."

Not Such a Bad Chap After All, Even Though He is Dirty, Lazy and Nasty.

An Ex Maysvillian Writes an Interesting Letter From the Scene of the Troubles.

FORT BENNETT, S. D., December 17, '90. Dear Bulletin: Idly glancing over a Dakota paper to-day I saw the name of Harbin. It was not a Maysville Harbin, one of the olden time, but what a train of recollections it brought up! Among others was a saying of Joe's, that you might throw a brick into a grocery in any town in the United States, and some rat from Maysville would run out. Well, the great Sioux Reserve is not a grocery, but it is a long way from Kentucky, and I, an old Maysville "rat," have been on it over three years. And I have had no bricks wafted at me, but we do not know at what moment an ounce of lead from a Winchester rifle may explore the recesses of our anatomy. I read the other day something the correspondent of an Eastern paper wrote about the "swift-winged arrow." That chap got all the news of Indians from Feunimore Cooper. The day of the arrow is gone, and now the Sioux bucks, the hostile ones go scalp hunting with a magazine gun of the most approved style.

As some of my Maysville friends know, I and my oldest daughter came out here early in December, '87, and my family followed in May. I am, and have been since my coming, superintendent of a Government school for Indian boys. My daughter is the wife of Lieutenant Carnahan, 12th U. S. Infantry, stationed at Fort Sully, seven miles distant. This place is garrisoned by two companies of the 12th Infantry, but in a day or two the 7th regiment will go into camp here. The 1st. Lieutenant Nat Philster's regiment is also expected. Another Maysville man, you see.

While we are not exactly in the heart of the hostile country, we are close enough for comfort. This place is also the Cheyenne River Agency, and previous to the "unpleasantness," from one thousand to two thousand Indians were in every ration day. Now that so many are looking for the Messiah the number coming to the Agency is not so large. You and the readers of the BULLETIN doubtless have read all about the Messiah business and the so-called ghost dances, also the reason given for the present disturbed condition of the Sioux, and I shall not enter into a detailed account of these things now. But I doubt if you have read much truth about the Indian or his doings. I meet the officers of the post nearly every night after dinner, and we all bring our Eastern papers, read them and compare notes, and many a hearty laugh do we have over the wild, absurd and impossible stories they contain. The simple truth is bad enough, and why the press tolerates correspondents who seek to make it worse is more than I can tell. The Indian is not such a bad chap, after all. True, he is dirty, lazy and nasty, but you don't have to sleep with him. From time immemorial he has been cheated and wronged. This injustice makes him ugly, and you wouldn't be angel. I do not presume to say what has brought about this impending collision. Whatever it might have been, it is on us. The killing of Sitting Bull, news of which reached me while writing this, precipitates matters. The United States can not retreat now, and at least four points on the reservation there will be fighting. Sitting Bull was a grand old fraud. He had neither administrative nor executive ability. He never planned a campaign, never sought except when he had a sure thing. Those who read this may say, what about the Custer fight? Well, if you lead your game into a trap where escape is impossible and the slaughter them, where's the glory? This is what the Custer fight was, and old Bull's lieutenant, Rain-in-the-Face, did the leading. The old reprobate was wont to pose as one asking no favors, but when he was at this Agency last summer I took him to my house to let the children see him, and the way he ceased the cold visuals to disappear was a sight to see.

About sixty miles west of us is a dancing camp of hostiles, numbering about four hundred and fifty men, women and children. They were headed by Hump, formerly chief of the Indian police, Spotted Elk, alias Big Foot, and Low Dog, a runaway from Rosebud Agency. This was headquarters for the disaffected ones of this Agency, and on the day before Thanksgiving the agent, an officer from the garrison and myself went out to the camp to see if the leaders could be induced to quit their foolishness. I was the only one of our party who could speak the lingo, and all the way out I was arranging my little speech. But we had our labor for our pains, and very small we felt, too, for Hump and company wouldn't even see us; and this, from an Indians' point of view, is about as great a slight as he can put upon you. We spent Thanksgiving day in the camp, strolling about, eating our own dinner of canned goods and watching the natives cooking and eating their meal of stewed dog. A dog dressed about as you would prepare a pig. It is soured into hot water, scraped, disemboweled, cut up and stewed. The preparation is not a very appetizing process, and if you witnessed it you would probably not take any dog in your'n. But stewed dog is not bad eating. If you are ever in danger of starving and can get a nice fat canine and a hot fire, don't let unreasonable prejudice against fido as an article of food keep you from prolonging your life. Since my trip to the camp Captain Ewers, of the 5th Infantry, went up and succeeded in turning Hump from the evil of his way, and enlisting him as a scout in the service of the United States. A forward movement is daily expected here, and Mrs. Carnahan is in a state of mind better imagined than described. Yours, G. W. WROTON.

To Soliciting Committees.

The following address is issued to the several county soliciting committees by the Executive Committee of the Kentucky Tobacco Growers' Association: As it is especially important that the work of securing subscriptions of stock be pushed as rapidly as possible and the result of that work reported promptly to the Board of Directors, it is suggested that the several county soliciting committees call meetings in their respective counties and thus afford an opportunity to reach a large number of tobacco growers at once, and probably of reaching some you might not be able to reach at their homes. Our enterprise is now in good shape and with prompt, effective work of these committees we will, within a few weeks, be selling our own tobacco and controlling the largest tobacco warehouse in the world. Direct your reports to M. W. Neal, Secretary, 514 Third street, Louisville, Ky.

MINER'S MAXIMS

When You Have Found a

GOOD Article Use and Recommend It.

Discoverers are the pioneers of progress.

Columbus discovered America, and the world has received the benefit of his efforts. Early in the century Miner discovered the qualities which combine to form a good shoe, and ever since the public have used and recommended HIS Shoes.

Worth determines value; and constant use is a test of merit. Miner's Shoes have stood the test of years, and their real worth is seen in the value they afford the user.

Use determines cost; and the purchasing value of a dollar depends upon the actual amount of wear which an article will sustain in relation to its cost.

The wearing qualities of Miner's Shoes make them cost less than those which may be cheaper in price, but dearer in wear.

ELECTION IN IRELAND

The Result Not Definitely Known.

PARNELL BELIEVED DEFEATED.

Hennessy, the Candidate of the McCarthy Faction, Probably Elected by One Thousand Majority—Other Events Transpiring Over the Waters.

DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—The first great battle between the forces of Parnell and those of his opponents in the Home Rule party was fought at the polls in Kilkenny yesterday, and the next twelve hours will be fraught with overwhelming importance to the cause which the patriots of Erin have at heart. The fate of Charles Stewart Parnell hangs in the balance.

This election was to fill the vacancy in the house of commons created by the death of E. P. Mulholland Marum, late member for North Kilkenny.

The success of Sir John Pope Hennessy, the candidate of the McCarthy faction, and the consequent defeat of Vincent Scully, the Parnellite champion, and who by the way, is a relative of Landlord Scully of odious memories, would have a wide and far-reaching effect, and one which would be detrimental in the extreme to Mr. Parnell's political fortunes. The ex-leader has been unfortunate in the selection of a man to contest the vacant seat. Scully is a man of not more than ordinary ability and lacking the possession of any great force of character.

Sir John Pope Hennessy, on the other hand, has proven the possession of splendid qualities as a leader and tactician; and his resourceful mind, his quick yet cool judgment and his unfaltering courage have combined to make him one of the most dangerous opponents that Parnell could encounter. He is, moreover, Parnell's equal in the very qualities that have made the latter a great Irish parliamentarian, and should he be returned it is prophesied that he will very soon supersede Justin McCarthy and become the acknowledged leader of the reconstructed Nationalists.

Dispatches from Kilkenny say that an immense vote was polled and that excitement ran terrifically high. The quiet which characterized the morning hours was first interrupted by an altercation between Mr. Harrington and several priests who were actively canvassing among the voters and against whose efforts to influence Mr. Harrington strongly protested, claiming that it was unclerical and had been carried so far that it might invalidate the election. Angry words arose between Mr. Harrington and the clergy, but the latter did not desist from the canvass. They marched to the polls at the heads of bands of voters and joined heartily in the cheers of the anti-Parnellites.

The latest information from Castlecomer is unfavorable to Mr. Parnell. The miners, who would hardly listen to him yesterday morning, voted almost universally for Hennessy.

Mr. Davitt objected to Parnell's post and election bills on the walls of the Gowran court house, where the polling was going on, and the returning officer ordered them removed. Mr. Crilly joining Mr. Davitt in his protest.

At Johnstown the priests headed processions of the anti-Parnellites and great excitement prevailed, the police having much difficulty in preventing a fight.

It is stated that out of 5,700 voters in the district, 4,500 voted yesterday. The abstainers were mostly Unionists. At Carrick-on-Sim last night a crowd of Parnellites attempted to burn publicly a number of copies of Davitt's paper, The Labor World. Davitt's friends rallied in great force and routed the Parnellites. Several of the combatants were injured in the fray.

Crowds thronged the streets of Kilkenny until long after midnight, excitedly discussing the events of the day, and expressing opinions as to the result of the election. Everything is uncertain, however, and a poll of the crowds showed a wide variance of judgment as to how the strength of the parties was displayed in the voting.

Mr. Parnell, in an interview yesterday evening, said he would go to Avondale to-morrow and rest there for a day and then proceed to Paris.

Mr. Davitt said last night that he was confident Hennessy had won by 1,000 majority.

Prisoners' Prospects.

PARIS, Dec. 23.—La Lanterne, in an article discussing the result of the trial of Michael Eyraud and Gabrielle Bonpard for the murder of Toussaint Gouffe, asserts that one of the jurymen who served upon the case was a bankrupt, which ipso facto, annuls the verdict which sentenced Eyraud to the guillotine and Bonpard to twenty years imprisonment at hard labor.

La Presse says that in the event of no appeal being made, or of its failure if made, Mlle. Bonpard will be transferred to the central prison at Rennes, there to serve out her long sentence.

Note: Swiss Writer Dead.

CAIRO, Dec. 23.—Gustave Revilliod, the noted Swiss writer and archaeologist, died here yesterday. He bequeathed his valuable private museum and a fortune of over $100,000 to his native place, Geneva. He was 73 years of age.

What Harrington Says.

KILKENNY, Dec. 23.—Timothy Harrington says there is no doubt that the rampant coercion by the priests in yesterday's election will be sufficient ground for a petition to set aside the election if Hennessy is victorious.

One Million Marks for Professor Koch.

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—It is stated that the government has decided to grant Professor Koch 1,000,000 marks, and his assistants 500,000 marks, for the privilege of manufacturing the Koch lymph besides a large share in the profits.

Postmaster Commits Suicide.

LYONS, Dec. 23.—M. Leroy, general postmaster of Lyons, committed suicide yesterday by throwing himself out of a third story window of his office.
